A few Savage words

► Sex columnist Dan Savage says he woke up Thursday morning thinking he was married ► Now he's not so sure

JOE LOFARO
@METRONEWS.CA

Outspoken American author and journalist Dan Savage told his husband Thursday morning their marriage was no longer valid.

What did husband Terry Miller have to say about that?

"Nothing you can print," Savage told Metro in an interview from Seattle.

The couple was reacting to news reports according to which the Conservative government argued non-resident same-sex couples who married in Canada are not legally wed if same-sex marriages are unlawful in their home jurisdictions.

"We're not crawled up in the fetal position on the floor. We're getting up and we're going to fight," he said. "But we're pissed."

Savage said the controversy has left marriages like his in "legal limbo" and that if the federal policy on same-sex marriage nullifies his marriage, then it has far-reaching consequences.

"In Washington state, my husband and I are domestic partners because we're married in Canada," said Savage, who married Miller in Vancouver in 2005. "So if we're not married in Canada, we're not domestic partners here."

Although Washington state doesn't perform same-sex marriages, it does recognize domestic partnerships that were performed in jurisdictions where same-sex marriage is legal.

Savage said the news was "personally distressing" and "a big step backwards for Canada." He and his husband will continue to fight to ensure the issue is debated until equality is granted to all same-sex couples.

As a gay-rights activist, Savage is well known for his It Gets Better movement, which was started with an online video of him and his husband reaching out to gay youth to prevent teen suicides.

Woman fined for not declaring goods

- Woman pleaded guilty in Ottawa courtroom Dec. 22 for failing to declare goods after trip
- She was fined the amount she would have had to pay for them, plus a $56K penalty

Officials at the Canada Border Services Agency are making an example out of an Ottawa woman who had to pay more than $80,000 in penalties for failing to declare a Harry Winston watch and other jewelry upon returning to Canada from Singapore in 2010.

"It is the CBSA's responsibility to ensure that applicable duties and taxes on imported goods are properly collected," said Denis R. Vinette, CBSA regional director general for northern Ontario, in a press release about the woman's case.

Meredithe Rechan, 48, had bought the designer watch, cuff links and earrings valued at $125,300 during her trip in September 2010.

A followup investigation led CBSA officials to her home, where the items were seized.

► Artist Immony Men, creator of the installation Taking Care of Business, puts in a shift at Gallery 101.

MAKING ART OUT OF THE 9-TO-5 GRIND

It could have come from the nightmares of the most desperately bored bureaucrat: an office scene mosaic made entirely of Post-It notes.

It's a contribution of Toronto, courtesy of artist Immony Men, to Bureaucracy, a new show examining work culture, which opens Friday night at Gallery 101.

Men has even turned the installation of his piece into an office job.

"I punch in at the gallery at 9 and leave at 5," said Men.

In between, he prints out the Post-It notes one by one and mounts them on the wall.

The project, he said, draws on his own experiences working in an office.

"It just seemed very tedious," he recalled.

He lasted eight months.

Bureaucracy, also featuring work from Cornwall artist Rene Price, runs until Feb. 18.

You can watch a live stream of Men assembling his art (and just killing time) at g101.ca.

Canadian gift to royals comes under scrutiny

Liberals must modernize: Young candidate

► Convention gives Liberals a chance to make changes that 'go to the heart of the party,' Zach Paikin says

JESSICA SMITH
@METRONEWS.CA

Liberals from across the country are in Ottawa this weekend for the party's biennial convention, during which a new executive will be voted in. One candidate for policy chief, Zach Paikin, is only 20 years old and says the party needs young blood to succeed. Metro spoke with Paikin on Thursday in Ottawa.

Does young blood in the party executive equal young votes?

Absolutely. We've got a party right now that's viewed as being a bunch of old nostalgic white guys. If we have a 20-something policy chair, I think that would send ripples throughout the political world in this country.

Is there more that youth can contribute to politics than just their knowledge of social media?

Young people are best equipped to lead, not only on the software front but also on the hardware front. The software being policy — and there are lots of innovative, exciting policies we can use to target not only youth in this country but the progressive majority. But in addition to that you've got the hardware — the social media, the Twitter and everything that you have to know how to master.

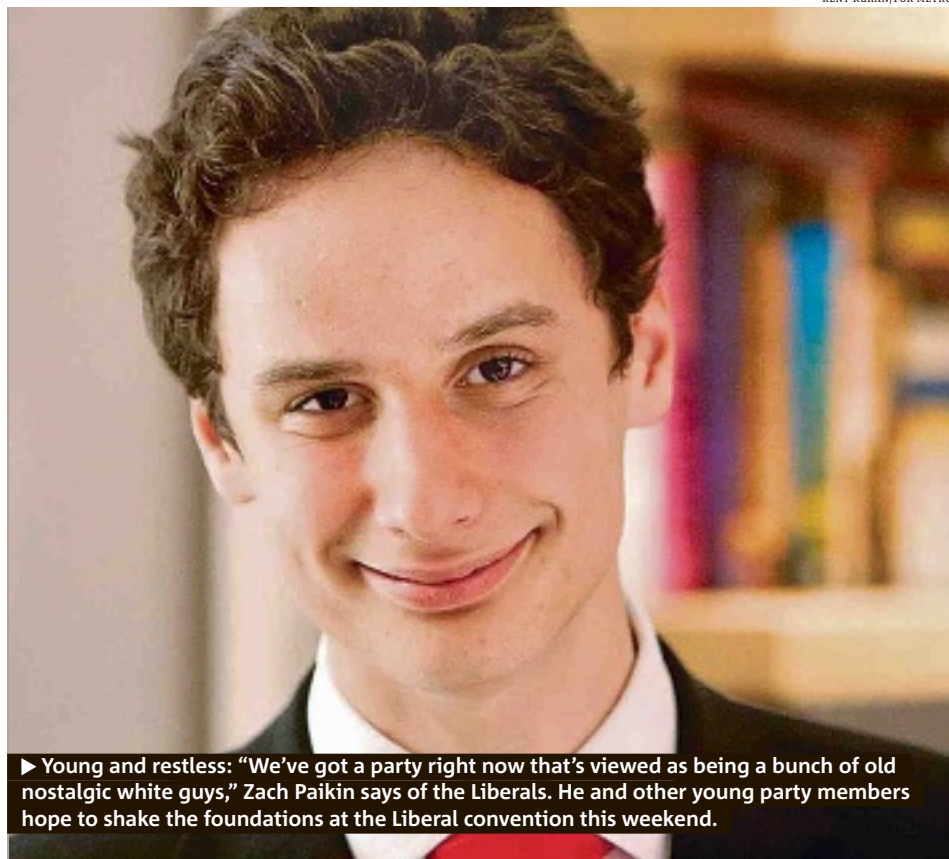

Whether you win or lose this weekend, do you think it will be because of your age?

Three out of the five candi-

Paikin's platform

- Hold regular, affordable policy conventions and set up a system through which party members can put issues on the table for caucus to raise during parliamentary sessions.
- Establish an independent liberal think-tank.
- Allow the party membership to play a greater role in transforming party policy into strategic messaging.

dates (for policy chair) are Young Liberals (of Canada), which demonstrates there's a need for a generational shift. I don't think age is a major issue at all, and all the candidates are going to be judged based on the ideas that they present.

► Young and restless: "We've got a party right now that's viewed as being a bunch of old nostalgic white guys," Zach Paikin says of the Liberals. He and other young party members hope to shake the foundations at the Liberal convention this weekend.

Bull rider just keeps on buckin'

The biggest and baddest bull that Zane Lambert ever battled is Big Belly Black.

"He's one of our best bulls in Canada, and he seems to run over me every time I get on him," said Lambert. "So he's got my number."

work, because you can't overpower them. They're very strong. You've got to out-manoeuvre them and stay in rhythm with their buckin'. It's a constant battle," he said.

Lambert said spectators look out for a rider who can keep on a big bull who will jump and move wildly. People will see riders get thrown off the bulls and maybe get stepped on.

"There's lots of dangers in the sport. When a 1,500-pound bull steps on you, it's going to hurt something," he said. "But I'd like to see people cheering for the cowboy, to want to see a good ride."

Big Belly Black stepped on him once, injuring his calf and putting him out of the sport for a month, he said.

Feds criticized over same-sex divorce issue

► PM says he won't reopen debate after doubt cast on gay marriages

The Harper government is being accused of taking away same-sex rights by "stealth" in light of a surprise government stand that thousands of the non-resident gay and lesbian couples who came to Canada to exchange vows aren't legally married after all.

A Vancouver woman is furious at Facebook after the company removed breastfeeding photos she posted on the social networking site.

Man found guilty of public nudity

► Ontarian charged after going through drive-thrus naked ► Claimed nudity was legal form of expression

An Ontario court upheld Canada's public-nudity law Thursday, saying it doesn't infringe on freedom of expression or the right to practise naturism.

While nudism could be considered a protected form of expression under certain circumstances, "requiring people to wear some modicum of clothing when in public is a reasonable limit," Justice Jon-jo A. Douglas told the court in delivering his judgment.

The court ruling comes after a constitutional challenge by a man charged in incidents involving public nudity in the Bracebridge area.

Brian Coldin was found guilty of partial nudity that offended public order for incidents at a park and two fast-food drive-thrus.

► Brian Coldin appears at court in Bracebridge, Ont., on Thursday.

He was found not guilty in another incident that started on his own property, a clothing-optional resort he operates in the Bracebridge area north of Toronto.

At Coldin's trial, A&W and Tim Hortons workers testified he was nude when he came to the drive-thru windows and one worker said he pretended to reach for a wallet as if wearing pants.

Outside court Thursday, Coldin said he said he wasn't nude during that incident, but was wearing a towel.

In his ruling, Douglas found Coldin's actions expressed "not much more than his desire to be publicly nude."

"Attending at the pickup of Tim Hortons, of A&W, without one's pants expresses little meaning about naturism to others, and it is certainly not perceived as having important meaning," he said.

RCMP spied on Rae during student days

The RCMP spied on Bob Rae during his student activist days and likely amassed a personal dossier on the future Liberal leader, newly declassified documents reveal.

Mountie security agents, wary of late-1960s campus turmoil, kept a close eye on the University of Toronto student council apparently relying on a secret informant to glean information about Rae and other council members.

The RCMP Security Service conducted widespread surveillance of universities, unions, peace groups and myriad other organizations during the Cold War in an effort to identify left-wing subversives.

"The notion that any of this posed a kind of a threat to the established order certainly would have come as news to all of us," Rae said.

U.S. slams marines in 'golden shower' video

► Officials investigating video of men urinating on corpses

A video depicting four U.S. marines supposedly urinating on the corpses of Afghans has been condemned as "utterly deplorable" and "disrespectful."

It is "absolutely inconsistent with American values, with the standards of behaviour ... that the vast majority of marines hold themselves to," U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said Thursday.

Clinton expressed "total dismay" over the video, which shows men dressed in combat gear standing over three bodies. It is unclear how the three died or whether they were Taliban or civilians.

"Anyone found to have participated or to have known about it ... must be held fully accountable."

A caption beneath the video, which was posted on YouTube, identifies the men as part of a scout sniper team assigned to 3rd Battalion, 2nd Marines, out of Camp Lejeune, N.C. One man in the video says, "Golden like a shower." Another begins to say, "The whole thing," before it ends. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Text donations become new popular way to give back

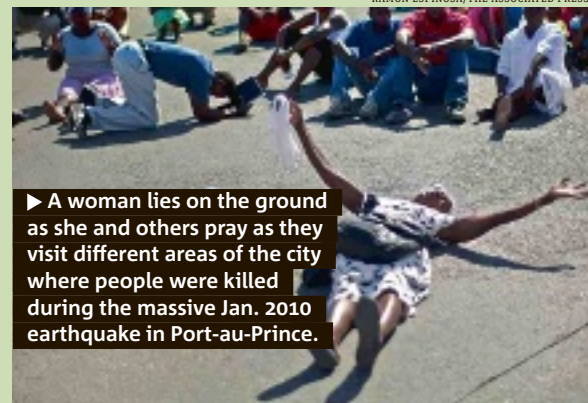

The massive earthquake that devastated Haiti two years ago prompted an outpouring of charitable donations and propelled a new way of giving — through text messages — into the public eye.

HAITI ANNIVERSARY NATION MARKS TWO YEARS SINCE QUAKE

Haitians are marking the second anniversary of the devastating earthquake with church services throughout the deeply religious country.

The earthquake took place on January 2010 and, according to government officials, killed 316,000 people and displaced 1.5 million.

More than 500,000 are still in temporary settlement camps.

National memorial services were planned at a UN base and the site north of Port-au-Prince where thousands are buried.

WINTERFEST CRAZE ASCENDS ON CARLETON U!

Brought to you by CKCU-FM, Canada's first campus-based community radio station, Winter Fest is an all-day festival of music featuring live performances from various established and up-and-coming recording artists. Other events will include live visual art performed on location, a DJ battle featuring some of Ottawa's hottest on the one's and two's, artist and management workshops with established recording artists and industry leaders, various fundraising activities for CKCU, and much, much more!

Headlining the event will be Ottawa's own Urbnet recording artist, DL Incognito. DL returns to his hometown as a hero after three Juno nominations, five full-length LPs and several tours across Canada. Also, headlining the bill will be Moka Only of Victoria BC, who was part of the highly successful group Swollen Members. Moka has released over 40 albums both solo and collaborative and decided that he would join the Winter Fest line up after reading about it on the Internet. Finally, Ottawa's hardest working hip-hop duo Tragic and Rockwell, better known as Philly Moves, will bring their fun-loving style to Winter Fest with music that will make listeners dance, smile and think.

Don't think that these three are it though. Winter Fest will feature many, many more of the capital's up-and-coming artists throughout the daytime and night shows at Oliver's Pub on Carleton University Campus.

Winter Fest and its numerous partners believe in our city's local talent, and are sympathetic to the difficulties faced by many artists attempting to grow their fan bases and increase visibility; especially coming from a relatively small city such as Ottawa – which is although rich in culture and talent – is seldom recognized for its contribution to Canadian Music, and even less for its contribution to Canadian Hip Hop. The concept behind Winter Fest is simple: to provide and foster an environment which will provide artists the opportunity to showcase their skills beyond their regular fan base.

In order to achieve this goal, the Winter Fest team and its artists have sought the support of various local and national music/art-related organizations and with a diverse yet inclusive program of performers and presenters, Winter Fest has effectively become one of the fastest growing music festivals in Ottawa and its surrounding areas.

► Time cut to compete globally ► Brokers need break to meet not eat

Several hundred Hong Kong stockbrokers have marched to the city's stock exchange to protest plans to trim their lunch break between morning and afternoon trading sessions to an hour.

The stockbrokers carried placards Thursday denouncing the plan to shorten the break by 30 minutes. Rally leaders handed a letter of protest to exchange officials.

The shorter lunch break would take effect in March and is the second phase of a plan to extend trading hours. Last year, it was cut to 90 minutes from two hours. Stock exchange officials say they need to bring trading hours in line with international rivals. Brokers say they need the time to meet with clients.

Housing costs to rise — slowly: Royal LePage

The price of homes in Canada will continue rising this year, but the hottest markets in Toronto and Vancouver will grow much more slowly, predicts Canada's largest real estate broker.

Low mortgage rates will continue underpinning housing demand despite the weakening economy, said Royal LePage Real Estate Services in its annual housing outlook Thursday. "Interest rates are the primary driver behind activity levels in the marketplace," said LePage president and CEO Phil Soper.

Experts believe interest rates will remain stable as the economy expands sluggishly, but eventually rates should rise with stronger

WANTED (HIGH) SCHOOLS, TEACHERS AND STUDENTS

Students can win

Vincent van Gogh bike and much more!

Vincent van Gogh goes to school

A Canada wide school project with great opportunities

| Kingdom of the Netherlands | Kingdom of the Netherlands | Kingdom of the Netherlands | Kingdom of the Netherlands | Kingdom of the Netherlands

Ever heard of a guy called Vincent van Gogh? The famous Dutch artist who was born more than 150 years ago in the Netherlands and who became known as an innovator in the art world. If you have heard of him, did you ever wonder how it would be to follow in his footsteps and use your own creativity just as he did? The Netherlands Embassy and its network in Canada invite teachers and students to participate in the "Vincent van Gogh goes to school" project, which will run from February – June 2012. The project is designed for children between the ages of 6 and 16 years old. Both elementary and high schools can join.

The school project coincides with Vincent's visit to Canada in the spring of 2012: the National Gallery of Canada, located in the capital Ottawa, will host "Van Gogh: Up Close" from May 25 – September 3 (2012). It will be the first major Canadian exhibition of works by the famous Dutch artist for more than 25 years.

Useful teacher's kit

Join us right now and we will send a teacher's kit including the "See and Do Children's Book" from Ceciel de Bie and Martijn Leenen, a dvd about the life of Vincent van Gogh to use in a classroom setting. The teacher's kit will be distributed on a first come first served principle; last entries no later than January 17, 2012.

Learn, explore and experience

• Learn together with schools in the Netherlands that are participating in this project and would like to connect with schools in Canada.

Embassy of the Kingdom of the Netherlands - www.dutchmissions.com

- Explore possibilities of the "Vincent van Gogh goes to school" project in your own class: it is not just about art per se. Van Gogh can be a history project, a biology project or even a language class.
- Experience the Netherlands and discover interesting facts about the Dutch, their country and the friendship with Canada.

Make - with your classmates and with the support of your teacher - an awesome painting of sunflowers; write a letter to Vincent; or, how about using your creativity to produce a movie, a rap, a comic, a poster, a board game or a picture? Increase your chances to win by uploading a video, a song, or a picture to the specially designed vincentincanada Facebook page from the Netherlands Embassy. Students can also sign up individually, and will be organized in the appropriate age category. The Sun Flowers – age group 6 – 10; The Irises – age group 10 – 13 and The Wild Roses – age group 13 – 16.

Screener layoffs on way to Pearson

Big layoffs involving security screeners are coming at Toronto's Pearson International Airport, but whether that will mean travel delays and compromises in security is a matter of dispute between the union and employers. The Canadian Air Transport Security Authority said it has been informed by its contractor, Montreal-based Garda World Security, that 68 screeners at Pearson would be laid off and some 200 others would have their hours reduced. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nigerian union threatens halt to oil, gas production

► Strikers demand restoration of fuel subsidies ► Natural-gas shutdown would turn off power grid ► No impact to oil production, shipment yet

SUNDAY ALAMBA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major union promised Thursday to stop the beating heart of Nigeria's economy — crude oil production — as part of a nationwide strike and protests gripping Africa's most populous nation.

The union's ability to enforce the shutdown Sunday across the swamps of Nigeria's southern delta to massive offshore oil fields remains in question, though the threat of a strike could sway global oil prices.

Nigeria, home to more than 160 million people, has been paralyzed by a national strike that began Monday after the government abandoned subsidies that kept gasoline prices low.

Overnight, prices at the pump more than doubled, to at least 94 cents per litre from 45 cents per litre. The costs of food and transportation also doubled.

Popular anger over losing one of the few benefits average Nigerians see from being an oil-rich nation, as well as disgust over government corruption, has led to demonstrations nationwide and related violence that

The Petroleum and Natural Gas Senior Staff Association of Nigeria said it would "be forced to go ahead and apply the bitter option of ordering the systematic shutting down of oil and gas production" if the government refuses to re-instate the gas subsidies.

Union president Babatunde Ogun said if fields are shut down, it could take "six months or one year" to restart them. "We ... believe that if everything comes to a standstill, the govern-authoritative compendium of what's goin' on:

1 PR nightmare: Four U.S. marines are caught urinating on dead Taliban with extreme prejudice.

Once again, the smartphone proves its worth as a weapon of mass embarrassment.

2 Awww: Vancouver Aquarium's sea otter Milo, the world's cutest animal, succumbs to cancer at 12. A YouTube video of Milo and Nyac — also a sea otter — holding paws and floating on their backs, has racked up 17 million views. Nyac was the older woman; she died last year at 20. Who says otters are slippery? Milo was staunch.

3 Dining alfresco: Breast-feeding pix nixed on Facebook as sexually explicit, which leads us to wonder just how kinky they are at the world's foremost social network. Meanwhile, that "naturist" guy who kept going through the drive-thru at Timmy Ho's starters had his sentence upheld. So what's the big deal? They're both cases of little boys having dinner.

4 World's most dangerous job: Iranian nuclear scientist No. 4 gets blown up this week. The Israelis: Who, Us? If this keeps up, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad will have to make his own damn atomic bombs.

5 Katy Perry: 5; Russell Brand: 0: She's hot enough to melt your popsicle, winning five People's Choice Awards. Ex-hubby Russell Brand? He loses the California Gurl. And the consolation prize of being referred to as the star of Arthur is no consolation at all.

6 Good news, bad news: In the same week, Toronto Maple Leafs defenceman Dion Phaneuf gets voted to the all-star squad and is rated the NHL's most overrated player. Somebody's wrong.

7 HBD: Kate Middleton, er, the Duchess of Somewhere, turns 30. You think that's something? Betty White turns 90 this week, and she's still funny. Kate Middleton has never — to our knowledge — been funny. Although she does smile a lot.

9 Bieber watch: He's going back into the studio to work on his next album. Will his voice crack before he's finished?

Dutch storms create wave of orphaned seal pups

A volunteer feeds a seal a herring at the Pieterburen seal creche, north of the town of Groningen, in northern Netherlands on Thursday.

Storms that have lashed the Dutch coast this year have created a wave of orphaned baby seals, some so young their umbilical cords are still attached, wrenched from their mothers and washed up on beaches and dikes. An existing Pieterburen seal rehabilitation and research center (SRRC) near the northern city of Groningen has been so inundated with pups and older seals in recent weeks it has erected a temporary tent to house them while they are nurtured back to health before being returned to the wild.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

'Screamers'

► American volunteer Torrey Utne said Thursday that in the last 10 days, more than 100 seals have been brought to the centre for treatment and it now houses some 350 of the marine mammals.

► Many of them are young pups known as "screamers" for their high-pitched whining.

"Some of the seals are really friendly.... They will come right up to you and sniff you because they know you are the one bringing fish."

Synopsis

In the New Orleans-set crime thriller Contraband, Mark Wahlberg plays Chris Farraday, a reformed criminal forced to do the proverbial one last job when his brother-in-law Andy (Caleb Landry Jones) runs afoul of a local gangster (Giovanni Ribisi). To square the deal and pay-off Andy's debt, Chris agrees to go back into his old line of work — smuggling. In this case he must illegally transport millions of dollars in counterfeit bills. But can he navigate around the police, ruthless drug lords and double crosses to keep Andy and his family safe?

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN

Richard: Mark, Maybe January isn't a dumping ground for awful movies anymore. Used to be that only the dregs came out after Christmas, but Contraband is actually a pretty good thriller. It's not brilliant, but succeeds mainly because Wahlberg can play the family man, as he does in the first part of the movie, and then switch gears to have believable tough-guy swagger.

Mark: Well, the plot — One! Last! Heist! is as old as Dick Clark's toupee. But the movie is all in the details — the gritty port milieu, the dirty hold of the cargo boat, the cheap 'n'sleazy Panamanian dives; this flick is the antidote to Miami Vice — there's zero glamour in this smuggling game. As far as Wahlberg goes, I found him totally believable and it's the best thing he's done in a while. But what's up with Ben Foster? Does he have to be a creep in every movie he's in?

RC: Foster is a fine but typecast actor. He really needs to break away from the deadbeat kind of characters he's been playing lately. More work like his heartrending performance in The Messenger please, and less like paint-by-number creepy guys he plays in movies like this and The Mechanic.

MB: And I was all excited to see Kate Beckinsale out of Vampirella drag — and then they gave her nothing to do; the worst wifey part in recent memory. The other supporting roles weren't all that great, either, although Giovanni Ribisi does make a swell bad guy, and I'll always have a soft spot for JK Simmons after his role in Oz. I like seeing him in anything.

RC: With the way Ribisi chews the scenery here and his work in The Rum Diary he's proving himself to be the hungriest actor in Hollywood next to Nic Cage. He was fun. Beckinsale, not so much. Why cast her and then simply make her the damsel in distress? You'd think after kicking werewolf butt in four Underworld movies she'd be able to defend herself by now. Unfortunately the supporting characters are less interesting than the movie as a whole.

MB: It's not really an 'actor's movie,' is it? But the mechanics of the heist work, as well as the action sequences, and that's why it's worth watching. Oh, and a fabulous art joke, which seems out of whack with the rest of the film, but is a hoot nevertheless.

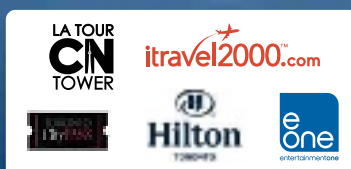

▶ Mark Wahlberg easily straddles the world of family man and tough guy in Contraband.

A beastly outing

► Chris Alexander takes his sons to Beauty and the Beast 3D ► The boys bond over chick-flick bashing

CHRIS ALEXANDER
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Today, the house the mouse built digs up another masterwork, in 3D: 1992's sumptuous, Oscar-nominated Beauty and the Beast. For this review, I opted to not only bring my four-and-a-half year old son Jack to critique, but also another member of my film-reared brood, three-year-old Elliot, a young man who adores motion pictures ... but abhors wearing 3D glasses.

Now that's as good a place to start as any.

Beauty is just that, a ravishing classic fairy tale, with every single hand drawn frame a work of warm art. So why then, put it in 3D? The answer is, of course, to compete in today's screen leaping obessed marketplace. Beauty is a dark affair, however, and much of the gimmick is ineffective. And in Elliot's case, annoying, as the lad kept removing his specs, refusing my many attempts to put them back on. No matter. He still was gripped by the picture. Both boys were. It's tight, colourful, lively, operatic and brisk. And although the new 3D sheen lacks the punch it promises, it's still exciting to see Beauty and the Beast return to screens.

It also for me, marks a milestone in Jack's cinematic pallet in the form of his newly minted disdain for chick flicks.

"I loved that movie," he remarked as the credits rolled. "But I hate girls in dresses that kiss."

Bracing for Ricky's return

► Golden Globe nominees say they're ready, even eager, for the comic wrath of host Ricky Gervais

When Golden Globes host Ricky Gervais took sharp swipes at Mel Gibson, Bruce Willis, Robert Downey, Jr. and the Hollywood Foreign Press Association at last year's ceremony, some criticized the comedian for going too far.

Downey described the vibe as "hugely mean-spirited, with mildly sinister undertones."

With Gervais back for his third turn as Globes host on Sunday, nominees are already preparing themselves for the British funnyman's pointed jabs.

"I'll probably get the piss taken out of me, but it's fine with me," said Elton John, nominated for his song from Gnomeo & Juliet. "I'm British. I can take it."

Johnny Galecki, who is up for his first Golden Globe for his work on TV's The Big Bang Theory, said that when he got word he was nominated, "one of my first five thoughts was, 'Oh Christ, Gervais is going to make fun of me.'"

But the actor isn't really worried.

"I'll be flattered by it," said the 5-foot 5-inch Galecki. "I'm looking forward to it. I hope he doesn't just zero in on the height. That's just easy pickings."

Damian Lewis, nominated for his work on the TV series Homeland, said he might also be an easy target for Gervais.

"If he's got a thing about redheads, I'm a sitting duck," Lewis said.

Glee and American Hor-

► Will Ricky Gervais have them cheering or jeering at this year's award ceremony?

ror Story executive producer Ryan Murphy is excited about Gervais' return and the spice he brings to the three-hour telecast.

"It's always good with the shows to have an unpredictable element to them, and he certainly is that," Murphy said. "He's very funny and very smart and I think he will make nominees even more nervous than they already are,

which is kind of funny."

Seth Rogen, who produced and starred in best picture nominee 50/50, is also looking forward to Gervais' return. He even went online to check out what the comedian said last year.

"It was the first time in a long time I'd gone on YouTube and watched something an awards show said," Rogen said.

Supporting actor nominee Christopher Plummer said he appreciates Gervais' irreverence.

"I think finally everybody's come to that same conclusion: That that's him, he doesn't mean it, but he's very funny," Plummer said.

Jean Dujardin, nominated for his starring role in the silent film The Artist (which is also up for best picture and is the night's leading nominee with six bids), said it would be an honour if Gervais even mentioned him.

But there's a caveat, the actor said: "If he mocks me, he has to do it silently, without any words."

The 69th annual Golden Globe Awards will be presented Sunday at the Beverly Hilton Hotel and broadcast live on NBC.

The Iron LadyGenre: Drama
Director: Phyllida LloydStars: Meryl Streep, Jim Broadbent, Richard E. Grant

The film begins in the present with Margaret Thatcher, the longest serving British Prime Minister of the 20th Century, diminished by age. She daydreams conversations with her late husband and reflects on the past, which leads us into the “greatest hits” biographical format that makes up most of the movie.

It's all rather standard, elevated by a performance that once again displays what a great technician Meryl Streep is. She embodies Thatcher, from the flamboyant hair to the ever-present pearls although the real heavy lifting is done in the “lion in winter” scenes. It's there the movie goes beyond the showy impersonation and becomes an emotional, well rounded portrait.

A Dangerous Method*Genre: Drama
Director: David CronenbergStars: Michael Fassbender, Keira Knightley, Viggo Mortensen 🌐🌐🌐½

Director David Cronenberg has rarely been this simply elegant. The story of two pioneering figures of psychoanalysis, Carl Jung (Michael Fassbender) and Sigmund Freud (Viggo Mortensen), who have a falling out over an intelligent but troubled patient, Sabina Spielrein (Keira Knightley), is sophisticated and stylish. Shot compositions and camerawork are kept simple so as not to distract from the star of the show — the dialogue. As you might imagine for a drama about therapists, there is a great deal of talk. A Dangerous Method won't be for everyone. The combo of love story and birth of modern analysis is an odd mix, but in its introspection is a fascinating glimpse into the character's lives and minds.

Joyful Noise*Genre: Comedy/Musical Director: Todd GraffStars: Queen Latifah, Dolly Parton, Keke Palmer

You'd have to be pretty hard hearted not to get a charge out of the outsized enthusiasm of Joyful Noise.

OK, the script is overloaded; it's unashamedly cornpone and “squeaky clean” is an understatement.

It concerns a local church choir in a vaguely unsettlingly small Georgia town where everyone knows your business.

And sadly, Dolly Parton may have passed the surgical tipping point.

However, the third act gospel competition is a glorious bolt of musical lightning that all but obliterates these niggling problems.

Beat up by a girl

► Channing Tatum meets his match in martial arts expert Gina Carano ► They square off in Haywire

SASHA PERL-RAVER

METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

Channing Tatum knows how to pick a fight. Last year, he quite vocally went on the record admitting he wasn't interested in watching or starring opposite a female action hero until Hollywood unearthed a woman who was truly intimidating.

“I've always wanted someone that I would be afraid to fight. And they found one,” he grins, sitting in a suite at the Four Seasons in Beverly Hills where he's promoting his latest film, Haywire, a Bourne-esque action thriller about a covert operative caught in a deadly double cross that's headlined by female mixed martial arts star Gina Carano. “Isn't she just the most amazing little thing ever?” Tatum gushes. “I mean, she's diesel, but

Sculpting her acting chops

Gina Carano recalls her first day of work, which had her going toe-to-toe with one of 2011's breakout stars, Michael Fassbender. “At that point, I had only read lines with an acting coach for maybe three days,” she cringes. “I showed up and Michael said, ‘You want to run lines?’ And I said, ‘Please.’ It was the first time I'd run lines with an actor. He put some whiskey down in front of me and said, ‘OK, let's do this.’”

she's just got the best heart and she's so good in this movie.”

Carano, best known for her fight appearances and role as Crush on American Gladiators, was approached by Haywire director Steven Soderbergh to do an action movie, though he did caution her it would be “interesting” to see who signed opposite on for roles that demanded grown men get their butts kicked by a girl ... who also happens to be a trained Muay Thai fighter.

“She's a real fighter, she can beat up most dudes,” Tatum chuckles.

Her other co-stars are equally enthusiastic: “Oh, I got my butt kicked sideways by her and I loved every minute of it,” Ewan McGregor offers. “It never crossed my mind for a minute not to do the movie for some macho reason.”

Carano, who describes herself as “a tomboy who also loved Pride and Prejudice,” says she feels incredibly lucky to have been given the chance to do any movie, let alone the lead in a Soderbergh project.

'It was a way we could get inside Napoleon's head'

IAN JOHNSTON
@METRONEWS.CA

Jon Heder says one of the best things about his new Napoleon Dynamite cartoon is that fans will no longer be asking him "that" question.

"It's the number one question you always get — is there going to be any more Napoleon?" says the actor, who is still best known as the awkward title character in the 2004 cult hit.

"So whether it's a sequel or television show or whatever, I'm happy to say the adventures of Napoleon will continue."

Also back for the animated series — which will join The Simpsons and Family Guy on Fox's Sunday night lineup — is the movie's director/writer Jared Hess and all the original cast members. Add to that executive producer Mike Scully (The Simpsons), and the future looks bright for the curly-haired nerd.

"We always felt if we ever continued the adventures of Napoleon, that we would do it in animated form," says Hess.

"It was a way we could get inside Napoleon's head...to kind of do things you can't do in live action. One of the great things about animation is that it costs just as much to draw a space ship as a car."

Surprisingly, considering the original film's continued cult status, the cartoon marks the first time the cast has been back together since the film's release.

"It's been a lot of fun," says Hess. "Because most of us hadn't seen each other since it played at Sundance when we first screened it. It was kind of a fun, little reunion to get everyone back together for the table read..."

Less enjoyable for Heder has been the increased acting workload.

"It was a very relaxing film to do because...you can hide behind your eyelids and rest your voice," he laughs. "But for the lead character in an ongoing animated series, I've had to show way more emotional range than I've ever had in anything else."

Napoleon Dynamite premieres Sunday on Global.

Mourning Maury

► Cast of Less Than Kind come together after sudden death of actor Maury Chaykin ► Filming now therapeutic

@METRONEWS.CA

Overcoming the loss of your lead actor can be detrimental to a television series.

For Less than Kind — who suddenly lost the prolific, irreplaceable Maury Chaykin in July — demise surely seemed imminent.

"We thought about (calling it quits) but I think we just absorbed the shock of it," said head writer/producer Mark McKinney, perhaps better known as one-fifth of the legendary Kids in the Hall comedy troupe.

"We realized we had created this great show about a completely authentic family and this was a really sad but completely authentic experience that people could relate to so (continuing) seemed like an obvious thing."

Despite the difficult decision to persevere with a third season (which premieres this Sunday on HBO Canada), the experience of finding a way around a set that didn't include Chaykin's magnificent personality was an adjustment.

In an act of art imitating life in the new season, the fictional Blecher family will find catharsis grieving for their patriarch just as the real-life close-knit cast and crew had to.

"Sam Blecher dies early in the series and like it happens in families, this rearranges and changes relationships," explained McKinney.

"Then people work their way back; so we send the characters quite far out of their normal orbit and then sort of pull them back but I hope in a realistic way. And it's funny too considering what we were dealing with."

But turning out new episodes wasn't just steely resolve for the show. For those close to Chaykin, filming became an exercise in therapy — that especially rang true for McKinney.

"Maury died five days before my mom did so it was 'So grateful'

Less Than Kind won three Gemini Awards while the cast still mourned Chaykin's death.

"Winning the Geminis was amazing but we were all together a week before that for our first read-through (of Season 3) and that is the thing that is special to me," said McKinney. "We were so grateful to be back together and to be able to process all this."

really a hell of a summer. But my own family, we grew a factor closer by going through that together and so did this cast so in that sense it was all good in a way."

PREDICTIONS FOR 2012 MUSIC

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

Here are some predictions for music in 2012.

Indie music's impact will be greater than ever. Major labels — we'll soon be down to just three — will continue to chase mass audiences with mass appeal artists. Their focus will be more on creating Top 40 superstars. It'll be up to the indies to deliver the truly interesting stuff. And they will.

In addition to mass appeal acts, the major labels will really push heritage performers. This year's big reunions so far are the Cranberries (new album on Feb. 14), the Stone Roses (festivals this summer) and Black Sabbath (new album this fall). Also expect more deluxe reissues (Tragically Hip, I'm looking at you) as they try to persuade us to buy new copies of old albums — at a premium, of course.

Madonna and the Rolling Stones will battle it out for the tour of the year. Madonna will release her new album in March. And, although they're playing coy, there's no way the Rolling Stones won't go on a 50th anniversary tour this year.

The gap between what's on the radio and what the kids are listening to online will continue to widen. Ask anyone under 24 about Lana Del Ray and they'll know instantly who you're talking about. Even though she's barely made any kind of dent in commercial radio, her indie appeal is enough for her to be the musical guest on Saturday Night Live.

This is the year streaming music services will really take off. Rdio and Slacker are already in Canada. Spotify is coming.

CDs will still be around in twelve months. Ignore all those stupid predictions that the labels will boot the compact disc this year.

There will be another glut of Christmas albums in 11 months. For the past couple of years, Christmas albums have saved the music industry's fourth quarter. The trend will repeat in 2012.

So(u)n(d)s of anarchy

▶ Katey Sagal's music career gets a boost from her hit show's soundtrack

Somebody get Katey Sagal a record deal — no really.

Although she's happy with her day job on the successful FX series Sons of Anarchy, in her heart, she's a singer — and she gets a chance to show it as part of a new collection of songs from the show's first four seasons.

In the past, Sagal recorded on Elektra and Casablanca Records. But times have changed in the music business for her, and she paid to record her last album. Sagal yearns to record again in a more traditional manner.

"I'm still old school. I have to go in the studio with a producer."

Music From Sons of Anarchy: Season 1-4 features three songs by Sagal, and represents a return to her main love. Though Sagal gained her fame as an actress, her first big break in show business was in music. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Love don't cost a thing, just $40,000 a month

► J-Lo paying her latest boytoy $10,000 a week to ensure he wears the pants

DOROTHY ROBINSON

It pays to be Jennifer Lopez's boytoy.

Star magazine reports that Lopez is paying her former back-up dancer Casper Smart $10,000 a week so he can pretend like he has the funds to date her high-profile self (it's like crazy Britney Spears all over again).

A source tells the mag, "She hated having to whip out her credit card every time they go to dinner. Jen figured it's easier to give

That's totally normal and sane behaviour! From the block, indeed.

No wonder she's shilling so hard for Fiat — she has a boyfriend to support.

► Katy Perry

People love Perry

Her marriage to Russell Brand may be over, but at least Katy Perry has her fans to turn to.

The singer won big at the People's Choice Awards this week, pulling in five awards: favourite female artist, tour headliner and for song of the year for ET with Kanye West, music video for Last Friday Night and TV guest star for How I Met Your Mother, according to People magazine.

There was a significant lack of acceptance speeches at the awards show, though, as Perry decided earlier in the week not to attend the ceremony.

Wine sipping on a budget

A New Year brings many things. None of which are more thrilling than those post-holiday bills dropped off by your friendly postman.

While coming to grips with how much you spent making your Christmas merry may be enough to drive you to drink, finding a bottle of something decent you can pay for with the change found between your couch cushions may seem unlikely.

Though larger format sizes offer good value, many are blended, non-vintage wines with European sounding names and lackluster taste. That makes a drinkable, inexpensive vintage wine in a 1,500 millilitre bottle one of the Holy Grails of the booze business.

Low labour costs and a predictable climate make those from Chile consistent and quaffable. The 2010 Frontera Cabernet Sauvignon Merlot (1,500 ml, $14.95 - $20.49) — made by mega producer Concha y Toro — is a light mix of bright acidity, super soft tannins and fresh berry flavours.

Try this red with tomato-based pasta sauces and grilled meats. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

► Senators take New York as Anderson blanks red-hot Rangers, Spezza nets a pair of goals

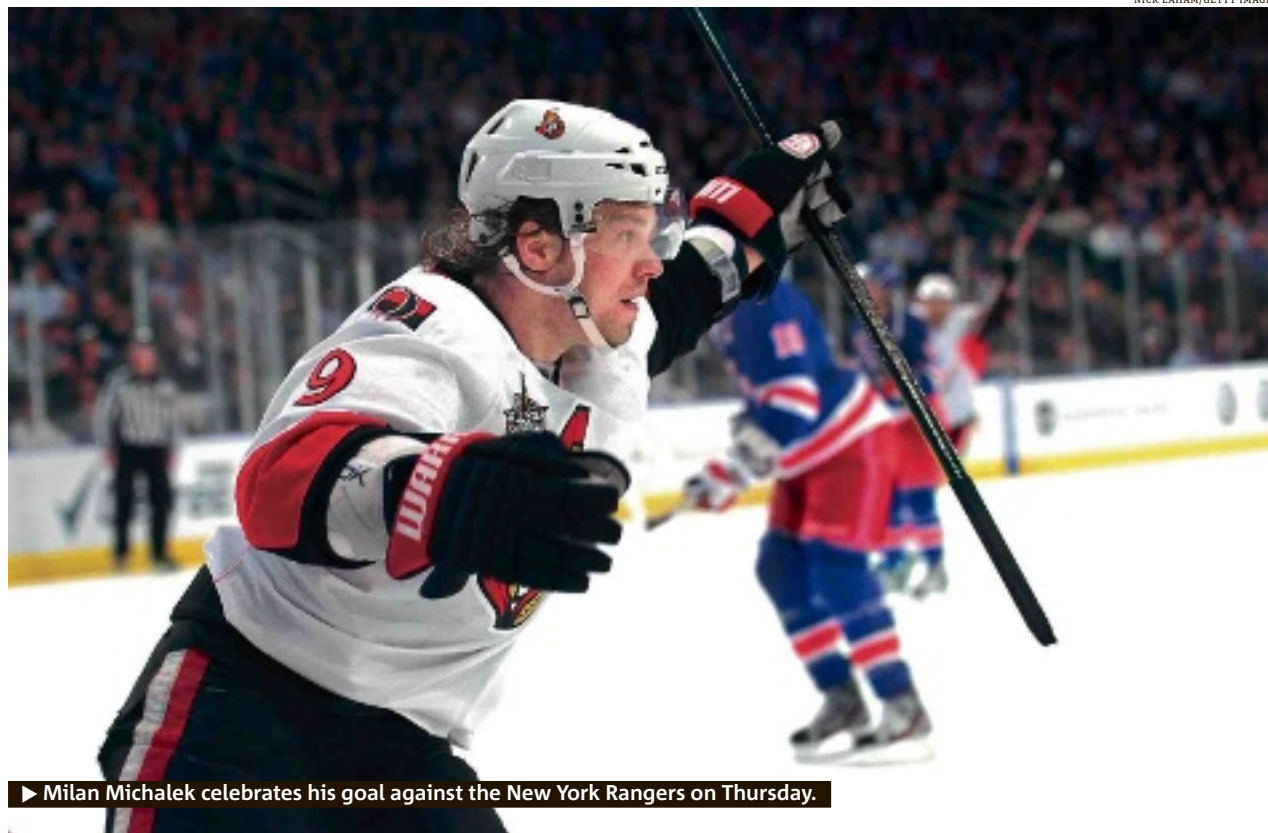

Craig Anderson made 34 saves for his first shutout of the season, Jason Spezza scored twice, and the Ottawa Senators beat the surging New York Rangers 3-0 on Thursday night.

Milan Michalek also scored for the Senators, who have won five straight at Madison Square Garden and seven of eight there (7-0-1).

New York (27-10-4), which entered with the most points in the NHL, had won five straight and 10 of 11.

Anderson's seventh career shutout, and first since a 44-save effort against Washington on March 25, came nearly two years after Ottawa's winning streak began in New York with a 2-0 victory on Jan. 14, 2010.

Anderson had a busy night, especially in the first period when the Rangers recorded 11 of the first 14 shots and took 12 straight.

► Milan Michalek celebrates his goal against the New York Rangers on Thursday.

His best saves came on the same sequence 5½ minutes in when he made a toe stop on Derek Stepan's shot and then sprawled across the crease to get his left pad on Marc Staal's backhand attempt on the rebound.

Anderson also made a point-blank stop on Brad Richards about seven minutes into the third, and another about a minute later on Stepan.

Ottawa became one of the last teams to register a shutout this season, posting its fourth blanking in 37 games at New York. The Blackhawks and Islanders are the only remaining teams without a shutout this season.

Henrik Lundqvist made 21 saves for the Rangers, who had their fourth winning streak of at least five games stopped.

Spezza got the Senators going with a nifty wrist shot from the right circle. Spezza skated into the Rangers zone, after defenceman Chris Phillips beat Brian Boyle to a loose puck in the Ottawa end, and beat Lundqvist on a partial screen 8:54 into the second.

Michalek pushed the lead to 2-0 and sent many fans heading to the exits when he scored his 23rd goal. Michalek beat Lundqvist to the glove side with a wrist shot from the low slot with 6:02 remaining. Less than two minutes later, Spezza scored off a rebound during a power play to make it 3-0 with 4:27 left.

The Rangers were blanked for the first time since a 1-0 loss to Dallas on Dec. 13. They also were handed their fourth regulation loss at home in 19 games (13-4-2).

What's behind Bargnani's breakthrough?

The big wonder is how Andrea Bargnani has been able to do so much so far in this NBA season while running around the court with that lightbulb finally shining over his head.

Yes, after six seasons of little more than maddening inconsistency — flashes of excellence followed long stretches of infuriating lethargy — Bargnani seems to finally get it.

He is engaged at both ends of the floor, he rebounds in traffic, he is animated and excellent and one of the premier scorers in the entire league.

"Andrea for me, and I've been telling all my coaching friends around the league, is playing like an all-star on both ends of the floor," is the oft-stated belief of Raptors coach Dwane Casey and when Casey says that, eyebrows aren't necessarily raised in disbelief.

But why now?

Why, in his sixth season, is the seven-foot Roman finally showing the consistent determination and varied skills that led Raptors president and general manager Bryan Colangelo to make him the first-overall pick in the 2006 draft, the first time a European-born player had achieved such exalted status?

Talk to coaches, teammates and close observers of the team and it comes down to two salient points.

He's finally been challenged to perform on the defensive end or risk being made an afterthought —

"true accountability" is the phrase most commonly heard — and Bargnani is simply a very good basketball player who took longer than some had expected to understand the nuances of the game.

"He's matured, he knows this is his team, he's one of the stars of our team ... he's growing up," says his coach. "You're watching a guy grow up from a young player into a man and I think his confidence and his game is going higher and higher."

A strained calf has put a crimp into Bargnani's blistering start to the reduced NBA season. He left Wednesday's loss to the Sacramento Kings in the second half and his availability for Friday's home game against Indiana is in doubt. Officially, he's listed as day-to-day but with the Raptors in recent years, day-to-day is a catch-all for everything from major surgery to a cold.

Bailey vs. Brady six years later

► Underdog Broncos look to repeat magic of 2006 and once again end heavily favoured Patriots' playoff hopes

The last time the Broncos and New England Patriots met in the playoffs, Champ Bailey returned an interception 100 yards, sparking a big Denver win and handing Tom Brady his first post-season defeat after 10 wins and three titles.

Six years later, they meet again on Saturday, both men longer in the tooth but just as transcendent.

At age 33, Bailey has helped the Broncos (9-8) reach the playoffs for the first time in six seasons.

"He's really a playmaker for them," Brady said. "He's a great leader. He's everything you look for in a football player."

That's pretty much what Bailey said about Brady.

"He's smart, accurate, he has all the tools," Bailey said. "He's tough, confident. Everything you want

At age 34, Brady threw 39 touchdown passes, the second-best total of his great career, and led the Pats (13-3) to the top of the AFC by winning his last eight starts, including a blowout at Denver on Dec. 18.

The heavily favoured Patriots are 8-2 in home playoff games under Brady, whose 14-5 post-season record is tied with Terry Bradshaw for the best mark

The Broncos captain readily acknowledges he doesn't particularly enjoy facing Brady.

"It's more frustrating when you're out there because he's so good. He's one of the best ever," Bailey said. "I think a lot of people want to find out who's going to be the next guy, but he always reminds everybody he's still the best."

Brady said he's not thrilled to see Bailey again,

"I wish I could have him on our team and not play against him. I'm tired of playing against him," Brady said. "He definitely challenges us."

That's what happened Jan. 14, 2006, when Bailey made the play that ended New England's dominating dynasty along with Denver's years of playoff misery.

Baseball owners stick with Bud

► Commissioner Selig's contract extended through the 2014 season ► He has held top baseball job since 1992

Baseball commissioner Bud Selig says he couldn't resist the pleas of team owners for him to stay on the job. His wife Sue has said all along there was no way her husband would walk away from the game.

In the end, she was right.

Owners voted 29-1 on Thursday to give Selig a two-year contract extension through the 2014 season.

Selig has held the position since 1992, first as interim commissioner and then as commissioner since 1998. He will turn 80 in July 2014.

If he stays until September 2016, he would surpass Kenesaw Mountain Landis (1920-44) as the longest-serving baseball commissioner.

"I've often said, and I believe this, for me personally in my life there's no higher honour than being the commissioner of baseball," Selig said.

Selig's contract had been due to expire this Dec. 31 and he had talked of doing some teaching after leaving the job. But he said he began hearing lately from owners who wanted him to stay on.

"I started hearing a couple of weeks ago that there was a groundswell movement to do this," he said. "You can't leave now." I'd hear from various owners."

He said he reached the decision after thinking about it over the holidays, although he acknowledged his wife had been right when she said all along that he wouldn't be stepping down this year.

"In the end, doing what's in the best interest of baseball — if this many people believe that and feel that — is something that I felt I should do," he said.

Asked how he felt to have so many want him to stay on the job, Selig said, "You can't pay a human being a better compliment than that. If they really believe that, I'm just grateful. Very, very grateful."

Owners deferred a vote on the proposed transfer of the San Diego Padres from John Moores to Jeff Moorad, saying they need clarification on some financial information.

Because Selig's extension wasn't on the agenda for the meeting, owners took a unanimous consent vote to allow its approval. Moores, upset that the Padres' sale was not approved, voted no, a person in the room said, speaking on condition of anonymity because the details were supposed to remain confidential. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
